

WHAREKAUHAU wellness

Grounded in nature, guided by care, and deeply connected to place. Our botanical approach reflects the landscape and values of Wharekauhau.

We work with complementary skincare formulations created and made in Aotearoa. Plant-powered, adaptable and gentle on the skin, they allow each treatment to respond intuitively to the individual needs of every guest.

Native botanicals sit at the heart of these rituals, including mānuka honey, kāwakawa and mineral-rich clays. Many ingredients are grown on regenerative plantations, gathered at their peak or wild harvested in accordance with tikanga Māori protocols that honour seasonality, place and reciprocity.

Created with decades of formulation experience, each product brings together proven skincare science and the restorative qualities of plants native to Aotearoa New Zealand. The formulations support hydration, renewal, balance and radiance, while sustainable sourcing and recyclable packaging reflect a wider respect for the natural world.

The result is a quietly considered approach to wellbeing – where skilled touch, botanical care and the spirit of the whenua come together to leave the skin restored and the guest feeling refreshed.
